

Premium Services – Alert Monitoring

Challenge

The cybersecurity skills shortage affects more than 75 percent of organizations, and one of the areas most impacted is threat intelligence, because it is such a specialized field. Organizations that have adopted threat intelligence solutions sometimes struggle to effectively extract maximum value from their investment due to limited resources.

Solution

Recorded Future Premium Services provides dedicated threat intelligence experts to alleviate your resource constraints and maximize the value of your existing investment. The experts supporting this service average more than seven years' experience as intelligence analysts and are masters of the Recorded Future solution. Areas of expertise include cyber threats, information security, security monitoring, threat detection, and incident response.

Managed Alert Monitoring and Reporting

This premium service is designed to help organizations that rely on alerts from Recorded Future to protect their organization but do not have resources available around the clock to review, investigate, and report on alerts. A delay in addressing an alert or too many alerts to review can result in missed opportunities to protect your organization.

This services solution includes:

- Dedicated Intelligence Services resources
- Alert monitoring service by dedicated threat intelligence experts on your behalf
- Daily threat briefs summarizing alert review and analysis
- Regular requirements scoping, alert configuration, and collection tuning
- Reach-back to our team of 60+ analysts and experts
- Straightforward annual subscription service with hassle-free pricing
- Eight days of dedicated on-site time of support/special projects

Options:

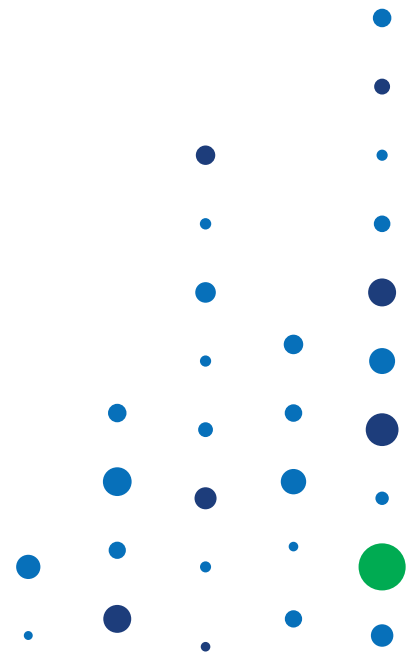

- Business hours coverage (United States, Eastern Time)
- Off-hours coverage
- 24/7 coverage

Results

Dedicated alert review services from Recorded Future help internal teams scale resources without adding additional headcount. Whether the solution is required to fill in when analysts aren't available after hours or to add full-time resources to the team, premium services enable organizations to reduce risk and maximize the value they achieve with Recorded Future.
